DEBUNK ATTACK ON TITO

Attention, Gov. Dewey

We hear, Mr. Dewey, that you are telling the voters of New York that you just love the "common man."

It is even said you claim to be a friend of labor.

We don't know who is shelling out the Big Money for your campaign this year and won't know until you file your accounts. But we do remember something about those who have shelled out for you before and they are most peculiar "angels" for a friend of labor and the common man.

Let's take a look at a few of those who were so eager to see such a "friend" elected in your last state campaign:

John D. Rockefeller, Jr. $3,500 Mrs. Abby Rockefeller 1,000

Joe Pew 1,000
Mabel Pew 1,000
Ethel Pew 1,000
Werner Schroeder

And if we remember aright, the finance director of both your state and national campaigns was none other than Winthrop W. - Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank.

The Pews of Pennsylvania! Financiers of the American Liberty League and, we have it on good authority, among the "angels" of the newly - organized front for pro-fascist finance capital — American Action, Inc.

Come now, Mr. Dewey, how much is this new front kicking in for your reelection and for your pals who are running for Congress?

And Werner W. Schroeder, "Bertie" Mc-Cormick's man out in Chicago. Yes, we know Bertie doesn't love you any more. He says you speak for the eastern international bankers, doesn't he? And he is one of the financiers of the Midwest who have their own row to hoe. Sort of falling out between thieves, isn't it?

To defeat Dewey, New Yorkers should vote Communist, then vote Labor on row C.

LINK'AMERICAN ACTION' LEADER TO BIG BANKS

Big GOP Money?: Shown above is the name of Lindsay Bradford, president and director of the City Bank Farmers Trust Co., affiliate of the $5,000,000,000 National City Bank of New York, on whose board Bradford sits. Bradford is allied with Robert Christenberry, leader of American Action, Inc., through his seat on Christenberry's Hotel Astor Corp.

By Harold Mehling

A high leader of the pro-fascist American Action, Inc., is involved in a maze of interlocking corporation directorships, one of which includes the third largest bank in the world, the Daily Worker learned yesterday.

Exclusive.

The City Bank Farmers Trust Co., affiliate of the $5,000,000,000 National City Bank of New York, has as its president and director Lindsay Bradford, a member of the board of the Hotel Astor Corp., of which Robert K. Christenberry, a prominent figure in American Action, is president.

Further and even more definite links between corporate wealth and pro-fascists with American Action have been uncovered. The Big Business group is plugged fore and aft with high-ranking Republicans. It seeks to purge 187 congressmen in the November elections and gird for the 1948 political battle, with a reported $1,000,000.

A new but powerful backer of American Action has been found to be Samuel A. Welldon, chairman of the board and director of the First National Bank of the City of New York, a trustee of the Bank for Savings in the City of New York, a member of the executive committee of the American Telephone and Telegraph, a powerful influence in the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Corp., Northern Pacific Railway, and Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U.S.

Christenberry, of the Hotel Astor, it was learned, also has financial ties with R. Baylor Knox, National City Bank's vice-president, through Knox's connection with the Hotel Astor Corp., on whose board of directors he sits.

HUGE FINANCIAL INTERESTS

Possibilities of huge financial backing for American Action from powerful anti-labor industrial sources were seen when it was learned Christenberry joins financial interests with Bradford and Knox through the board of directors of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel Co., Inc., on which all three sit.

Looking toward the exertion of great strength all through America, American Action has attempted to hide the names of some of its original founders, who met in Chicago's Palmer House in 1945 and

BRITISH COMMUNIST MP VISITS U. S.:

By Rob F. Hall and Ruby Cooper

CHICAGO.—Stalin's recent interview has "turned British reactionaries upside down" Willie Communist mer ber of parliament, declared in a chat with us here today.

"It has dispersed all the clouds of confusion which reactionaries here and in Britain have been trying to spread over the world," the former Clyde shipworker said. Stalin put simply and clearly "the actual situation determined by the needs and desires of the peo-

The Communist MP is in Chicago to visit his sister and her family. Accompanied by his wife, he landed in New York, Sept. 21 and came directly here. His stay in this country, which is purely a vacation, will be brief, he said.

Stalin's observations raise new perspectives for those who fight for peace, both here and in Britain, Gallacher asserted, and will have a big effect on the working class and progressive forces in both countries. "Stalin's answers will assist very considerably in drawing these forces together in a common movement to release the world from the threat which reactionaries continually use for their own purposes," he said.

Although Sir Anthony Eden's recent criticism of British foreign policy reflects differences in the British ruling class, Gallacher did not believe that to be its main

The British Tories were shocked by the labor landslide in the elections, he said, and for the first time lost control of parliament.

"The main concern of the Tories, despite differences, is to once again get control of the government. While in general the Tories pursue a reactionary domestic and foreign policy, they are prepared to use any situation in order to try to make a division in the forces of labor.

"Thus while Churchill advocates a four-power bloc against the Soviet Union, Anthony Eden, a very mild mannered Tory with a very attractive personality, is obviously being used in an effort to penetrate and divide labor." This is the division of labor being practiced by the Tories and Eden's remarks, he felt, reflect the Tory recognition that there is strong opposition to Bevin's policies among British workers.

"They believe they can recapture power through a new political combination or coalition which will contain even some sections of labor," Gallacher de-

British imperialism is generally recognized by the British workers as being on the decline, Gallacher stated.

"The big struggle of the imperialists in Britain is to hold on as long as they can to as much as they possibly can," said the at all the time they are losing ground to the rising forces of liberation that are against them in various spheres. In India they don't want to let go, no matter what they may say about independence. They will try every device to hold on there but the forces in India are reaching such a stage that no matter what the British imperialists do, they will lose."

The situation is similar in Egypt, where they are being forced out, he said, and efforts to build up new bases in Transjordan and Palestine will come to nothing in the long run. "The British imperialists are on the defensive," he stressed.

The Wallace speech was well received by English workers, who are "quite amenable" to criticism of British imperialism by progressive American leaders.

The reaction of the British peoto the anti-Jewish terror in Palestine has been very mixed to date, Gallacher said. Although the more advanced workers recognize that the labor government has broken its pledges to the Jews, many Britains are confused.

"You can understand that the 'free press' of Britain is controlled by a few Tories and the people have never gotten a real understanding of the Palestine problem. When some soldiers were shot, the press worked up quite a lot of feeling." Despite the confusion, however. a "wave of resentment and disappointment" swept England following the terror against the refugees. The British (Continued on Page 8)

How We Met Gallacher

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Because Willie Gallacher, one of Britain's two Communist members of parliament is in America for purely personal reasons, visiting a sister he hasn't seen for 30 years, he avoided publicity. Here in Chicago, he dropped in at Party headquarters to pay his respects to old friends, and at the request of Ruby Cooper, Daily Worker correspondent, agreed to answer a few questions. Cooper; Rob F. Hall, Washington editor of The Worker, who is here reporting mid-west politics, and A. B. Magil, an editor of New Masses, spent more than an hour with the Communist MP.

Gallacher was accompanied by Mrs. Gallacher, his brother-in-law, a Chicago worker, and his niece, an attractive American girl in whom he obviously took great pride, included such rabble as the anti-Semite Harry Jung.

Franco-lover Merwin K. Hart was there, and today American Action can't resist using his name, as well as that of Upton Close, notorious apologist

Meanwhile, the huge financial backing American Action may be enjoying will be revealing.

An investigation into the dovetailing names of America's largest moneyed families, most of whom have backed previous attempts to to defeat by any means progressive and labor candidates, brought to light those of Cleveland E. Dodge, of the Phelps Dodge Corp., and A. P. Giannini, of the Bank of America, which recently surpassed the Chase National Bank of Assets.

Both of these men sit with Christenberry's connections, Lindsay Bradford and R. Baylor Knox, on the board of directors of the National City Bank of New York. Phelps Dodge recently buckled to demands of its workers after a nine-month strike which saw every antiunion trick in the book levelled against the workers.

Giannini is closely tied in California with William Randolph Hearst interests.

Extent of further financial backing for American Action might be found in more banking and Big Business ties Christenberry's associates enjoy.

IMPOSING DIRECTOR LIST

Bradford, who lives at 215 E. 72nd St., New York, sports an imposing list of directorships, including those of the First National Bank and Trust Co., of New Canaan, Conn., Phoenix Indemnity Co., National Surety Corp., El Paso Natural Gas Co., Consumers Power Co., and at least a dozen other finance kingdoms..

Howard S. Butterweck, with whom Christenberry serves on the board of directors of the Ritz-Carlton Corp., is a trust officer of the City Bank Farmers Trust Co.

Douglas Gibbons, 740 Park Ave., with whom Christenberry does business at Ritz-Carlton board meetings, is also a director of the City Bank. He also is a trustee of the East River Savings Bank and a director of the Trade Facilities Corp., the Northern Insurance Co., City Investing Co., New York Dock Co. and the 1968 Fifth Ave. Corp.

Christenberry runs into Reginald Bishop Taylor at Ritz-Carlton board meetings, and Taylor's connections provide very interesting investigation. It seems, he also is a director of the National City Bank and also of the Cayuga and Susquehanna Railroad, Ford Hotels, Inc., Lackawanna Railroad of New Jersey, Preferred Accident Insurance Co., Protective Indemnity Co. and the Syracuse, Binghamton and New York Railroad.

MILLIONS TO INVEST

How much of the millions and millions of dollars involved in that string may be encouraged to invest in a little native fascism would be interesting to know.

Earle S. Thompson, Bradford and Knox, is another director of the City Bank Farmers Trust Co., it turns out, and president and director of the huge American Water Works and Electric Co., Inc.

Thompson is a member of the board of directors of the Western Pennsylvania Electric Co., the Western Pennsylvania Railway Co., Monongahela Power Co., Potomac Edison Co., American Communities Co., Windsor Power House Coal Co., Excess Insurance Co., Pejepscot Paper Co., and is a trustee of the Dry Dock Savings Institution of

And, most important, these revelations only scratch the surface of backers of American Action, Inc., including such tycoons as Ernest T. Weir, Gen. Robert E. Wood, Col. Robert R. McCormick and others who plan the most tightly-knit, well-organized Big Business backing of reactionaries in America's history.

If, as has been suggested, Christenberry is today the mouthpiece and nerve-center of this moneyed webbing, he and his cohorts are representing a sinister threat to the people of America through the new Big Business club, American Action, Inc.

A phone call by President Joseph Curran of the National Maritime Union helped Frank Taylor, president of the ship owners' organization to meet with the union.

Taylor had broken off negotiations last week.

Curran told Taylor the NMU and other unions in the Committee for Maritime Unity would intervene most actively to strengthen the strike if negotiations didn't begin promptly.

"Bigger and better demonstrations" would be part of such action, Curran told a press conference in NMU headquarters at 346 W. 17 St. late yesterday.

Negotiations will take place in the very building before which the publican Club at 54 W. 40 St. today pickets were marching-in the offices of the American Merchant Marine Institute, which represents ship operators on the Atlantic and Gulf Coast.

The engineers will no longer have to negotiate alone. Curran and Harry Bridges, president of the CIO's International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union - the two co-chairman of the maritime unity committee—will sit down in the parley to see that justice is done, said a Washington dispatch

Leo Presaman, general counsel The Citizens' Union also preferred of the CIO, will also participate.

Curran told reporters yesterday that the strike has become a lockground is using this lockout for poliical purposes," he pointed out.

Some one, he added, hopes to embarrass the Democratic Party as well as the progressive forces of this country by keeping the maritime industry stagnant.

Curran acted yesterday after a wire from the engineers' negotiating committee in Washington had given him "full authority to use any means deemed necessary to force the AMMI to meet and negotiate with the MEBA (Marine Engineers Beneficial Association) Gulf agreement and return to work thereunder.

The NMU and other unions will get results for the engineers only by working in unity together, said Curran again and agaian.

"NMU workers are part of the Committee for Maritime Unity," he declared. "As part of this maritime labor set up the NMU will take what action is necessary to prevent any one from destryoing

As the demonstration was about to break up, some 200 white-capped members of the AFL Seafarers International Union came up to the pickets shouting their support.

Negotiations were resumed yesterday between the AFL Ma Mates and Pilots, and the AMML

Gov't Price Official Gets Sugar Trust Job

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Robert H. Shields, who as president of the Commodity Credit Corp. engineered a sugar pricing system which guarantees huge profits to the sugar barons, is leaving government service for a lucrative job as vice - president and general counsel of the U.S. Beet Sugar Patton, president of the Farmers ers.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson had announced the resignation of Shields as president of CCC and chief of the department's production and marketing division on Sept. 23.

Just 10 days before it was made public that Shields was leaving the government, ceiling prices on cane and beet sugar were raised 1.5 and 1.37 cents a pound.

WHY RITCHIE SCREAMS 'COMMUN

of the New York Omnibus Corp., paid big money for full page ads vesterday to remind workers of a lesson they learn every time they fight for a wage increase.

It isn't the skyrocketing cost of living, not the extraordinary long overtime hours, not the security and hazards that call for a welfare fund.

It's all a Moscow plot to "destroy the American way of life," as Ritchie says in his ad. It's just a personal whim of Michael J. Quill, whom the company describes as a "Communist" who wants to "increase his power and to enrich his union treasury."

The ad shows a sketch of a likeness of Mike Quill who stands before a bewildered bus rider with a demand for more money.

Ritchie has tried the red-scare technique ever since the great bus strike of 1941, and he always lost. But like a gambler he always makes a new try.

Yesterday's hysterical ad proves that the Transport Workers Union socked Ritchie in his solar plexis. He is screaming red because the TWU exposed his phoney case.

Red Caps Hail Ben Davis Syracuse Station

them on a hand truck, then he stopped. He waved a calloused hand to the one man who towered above all the passengers alighting from the coach

"Hey, there, Councilman Davis," the red cap shouted.

Communist candidate for attorney general, walked down the long platform to be greeted by George Sheldrick, Onondaga county Communist Party leader, Pullman porters, Negro dining car cooks and waiters crowded into open car doors.

"Hello, Ben. Good luck, Mr. Davis. How's the Councilman?" they shouted. Some came down for a brief hand-shake. Heartened by this warm reception, Councilman Davis, on upstate campaign tour, issued two stirring appeals to the people in this Republican vote center. In an Onondaga hotel rally and a radio broadcast later he urged:

1. A big Communist vote. 2. An overwhelming Labor party vote to retire Gov. Thomas E.

Those who attended the rally and the thousands who listened to the radio broadcast later heard a new and important local voice speaking for the Communist can-

It was the voice of Norman Hamilton, Negro war veteran of the 93rd Division, leader of the National Association for Advanement of Colored People and Syracuse University post-graduate sociology student.

Hamilton is not a member of the Communist Party. But he came to Party headquarters offering his services in the Davis campaign. He accepted the job of introducing Davis at the rally and to the radio audience.

This 25-year-old Negro war veteran, sharing the platform with the Communist candidate, told how he and his buddies fought a war against fascism and then rehome "to discover to their dismay the menace of fascism lurking in the confines of Amer-

"Forced by exposure in the the Communist Party and such organizations as the Freeport Committee," Davis declared, "the Dewey administration - at long last-was forced to dissolve the KKK. Mr. Dewey's attorney general had admitted knowledge of a list of more than 1,000 Klansmen in New York. Unless these names are made public, unless each and every one is brought to justice, then Dewey's dissolution of the Klan is an empty formality. His platitudes are so much re-election pap."

Following the meeting and broadcast, members of the Clock-Watch Social Club, local Negro fraternal group, invited Councilman Davis to attend a club dance. When the Communist candidate stepped on the dance. floor the music stopped. He was lled to the si made a three-minute speech.

LaFOLLETTE'S FRIENDS

By Fred Blair -

MILWAUKEE.

SENATOR ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE, defeated in the Wisconsin Republican primaries and headed for temporary retirement from elected office, is going to be heard from in the future, if his connections are any indication.

Many people who considered LaFollette "liberal" were puzzled by certain inconsistencies in his position on various questions. These "inconsistencies" sprang from the fact that LaFollette's "liberalism" was merely a cloak for a basically reactionary position.

(1) His policy was always the same as that of his brother Phil. who was recognized by all as an open reactionary aligned with the Chicago Tribune crowd, whose outstanding Wisconsin spokesman outside of Phil is Lansing Hoyt, now associated with American Action, Inc. But Bob concealed his basic position better.

(2) Bob's anti-Sovietism ran like a red thread through all his statements.

(3) Bob broke with Roosevelt, delivering Wisconsin to the reactionary Republicans.

(4) Bob made peace last January with the Catholic hierarchy, with whom he had been at odds since his 1938 support of the democratic Spanish government.
(5) His re-entry into the Republican Party.

(6) The support of his candidacy by Sen. Taft and other outstanding reactionaries and the loud wail of sorrow from Henry Luce, Sokolsky, Norman Thomas and other imperialist - minded people at his defeat.

NOW TIME MAGAZINE of Oct. 7, in an article on the financier, Victor Emanuel, opens up some interesting lines of investigation.

It is common knowledge in Wisconsin that Leo Crowley was the main link between Bob La-Follette and the national government over many years. Last January, Crowley, the most prominent Catholic layman in Wisconsin and devoted servant of the reactionary hierarchy, was invested with the papal decoration of knight commander of the Order of Pius IX. The main speech at the ceremony was delivered by his good friend and political associate, Sen. Bob LaFollette.

It was this speech which publicly sealed LaFollette's capitulation to the reactionary hierarchy and resulted in much support for him from certain Catholic industrialists in the state. Some think it is not to be excluded that Monsignor Fulton Sheen may soon have another prominent "convert" to join Mrs. Luce, Louis Budenz and others of his golden flock.

Time reveals the following about Crowley and his association with Victor Emanuel: "In his capacity for making friends easily, he has made a close friend of many a once-obscure person and found him useful later when he was not so obscure. V. E. met Leo Crowley before he rose to prominence as FDIC chairman, in 1939 put him in as the $50,000 a year chairman of sprawling Standard Gas and Electric Co. When Crowley later became Alien Property Custodian, he in turn appointed V. E. to the board of two of the richest plums in his hands: General Aniline and Dye Corp. and General Dyestuff Corp."

WHO IS VICTOR EMANUEL, who befriended Crowley, in turn to be helped by him? Victor Emanuel, or "V. E.," is one of those "men of mystery" like Axel Wenner-Gren. Time states about him: "He made friends with the great London bankers, J. Henry Schroder & Co. and Alfred Loewenstein. . . With Loewenstein, Emanuel planned a grandiose scheme to take over just about all the utilities in the U.S. Before the plan went into effect, Loewenstein mysteriously jumped or fell from a plane over the English Channel. . . . But Emanuel, balked by the Schroders, who had been Loewenstein's bankers, and A. C. Allyn, among others, went ahead, anyway."

The Daily Worker, Oct. 4, carried a front-page article on Von Papen (also a papl knight, like Crowley), which mentions this Schroder banking company. Helen Simon wrote: "Next we come to some of Von Papen's important international financial tie-ups. He held some of the historic gettogethers with Hitler which tolled the death-knell of the Weimar Republic at the Cologne home of German banker Kurt von Schroeder. Von Schroeder is closely related, both through family and business ties, to the J. Henry Schroder Banking Corp. of London and New York."

KURT VON SCHROEDER is one of the big war criminals who should have been hanged at Nuernberg, but escaped this justice through his powerful financial connections in Britain and America. He is considered one of those whose connections saved Von Papen's criminal neck.

This is, indeed, an illuminating trail from the Wisconsin LaFollette, to Crowley, to Victor Emanuel, to J. Henry Schroder Banking Corp. of London and New York, to Kurt von Schroeder, to Von Papen. Also the other trail from Von Papen to the Vatican and from the Vatican to Crowley and LaFollette is interesting.

A question arises: Is it then just coincidence that the ideas of the LaFollettes have fitted neatly over many years into the pattern of the Hitler - helpers, such as America First before, and now American Action, Inc.? Or did the ideas follow the pipeline of personal and financial connections linking the LaFollettes with the cartellists who backed Hitler and now are in such harmony with the Byrnes-Vandenberg foreign policies today?

ECONOMIC NOTES

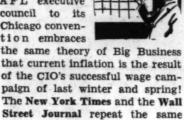

WAGE-PRICE SPIRAL

- By Labor Research Assn.

THE SO-CALLED "WAGE-PRICE SPIRAL" is prominent these days in the public statements of business leaders, government officials, and even the AFL executive

They assume that wages and prices are tied together. It is not only the National Association of Manufacturers that believes in increased prices as a means for determining wage increases. The report of the AFL executive council to its Chicago convention embraces point about twice a week.

But repetition is no argument; let us set aside the current chatter about the "wage-price spiral" and analyze the problem.

A good starting point would be the national income figures published periodically by the U.S. Department of Commerce. They are usually divided into four categories: total compensation of employees; net income of proprietors; interest and net rents; and net corporate profits. Roughly speaking, "total compensation of employees" is the share that goes to labor, while the other three categories represent the share that goes to the capitalists.

This is the way government economists divide the national income. And they certainly cannot be accused of being Marxist economists, since they include in the category "compensation of employees" not only the wages of workers and white-collar employees, but also the enormous salaries which corporation executives pay themselves.

BUT WE ARE PARTICULARLY interested in the fundamental fact that the national income is quite naturally divided between labor and capitalists. Now we come to the answer to the "wage-price spiral" talk. Given a fixed pational income, if wages go up, then the share to capitalists is reduced. If prices go up, so that real wages go down and workers have to pay more for less goods, then the capitalists' share is increased.

Let us ask the question: Why can't wages go up and profits go down (using the word "profits" in the broad sense of the capitalists' share of total income)? Or put the same question another way: Why can't wages go up and prices remain the same? One last question: Is there any law, legislative, economic, or moral, that entitles the capitalists to a certain rate of profit?

Our answers to these questions are obvious. But the capitalist's answer is rather different from that of the ordinary American citizen, who does not own the means of production and must work for a living.

The capitalist says: "If I don't get the profit that I think is coming to me, then I close down my plant." The recent performance of the meatpacking corporations is a perfect illustration of this behavior, which puts profits ahead of food for the American people.

THERE IS NO GOOD REASON why prices should be advanced to cover wage increases. But there is a very good reason why profits should be brought down to less exorbitant levels. Severe taxation and a drastic limitation on profits would mean at the same time lower prices and a more equitable distribution of the national in-

The capitalist element in our population is tiny, but it draws a disproportionate share of income. For the year 1939, the top one percent of all income recipients got 11.9 percent of all income; and the top five percent received 23.4 percent of the total.

In a speech before the anuual outlook conference of the Department of Agriculture, Chairman Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board, while discussing the dangers of the "wage-price spiral," gave the show away in the following phrase: "There is no ground for pessimism in future profit prospects unless we get another round of wage increases."

The true relationship is not between wages and prices, but between wages and profits.

PM Writer Raps Byrnes Tie to GOP

- Press Roundup -

PM'S editorial writer, Saul K. Padover, sees Secretary of State Byrnes' mission as a failure because both Byrnes and Truman permitted the Republicans to dictate foreign policy. The "saberrattling" diplomacy now in effect is not what the people voted for, says Padover. Everyone in the world either hates or scorns us, he estimates. The President has two choices, according to the columnist: either to pursue the present "anti-Roosevelt policy of Byrnes and Vandenberg" which will ultimately lead to war, or to return to a "course of action that would be both Democratic and democratic. This would offer a chance of peace, or at least longterm understanding, with Russia and international cooperation along UN, rather than powerpolitics lines."

THE TIMES denies the charge of "dollar diplomacy" leveled at the United States by Czechoslovakia. But in the next breath it insists that in the development of our credit policy the State Department should play a decisive role since "our credit and relief policies impinge upon our foreign policy."

THE WORLD-TELEGRAM sees the removal of meat controls as a victory for free enterprise. However, it sees the system of free enterprise on trial because it must prove to the American people that it "will serve them better than government planning and management of the economy." It therefore tells the profiteers to stop profiteering and the gougers to stop gouging.

SUN columnist David Lawrence hints that when Congress reconvenes new witch-hunts are in store for Communists.

THE DAILY NEWS poison penster, John O'Donnel, has a nice word to say for a Democrat, Guess who? Jim Farley.

THE POST'S columnist Harold Ickes believes the outcome of Columbia, Tenn., trials will only "approximate justice" when State Commissioner of Safety Lynn Bomar is brought to trial. He sees Bomar's actions as a "clearcut and flagrant violation of civil rights" of the Negro people. "It is to be hoped," he concludes, "that Attorney General Clark will into arrest Lynn Bomar and other officials responsible for the outrages against the constitution which occurred at Columbia, Tenn."

THE JOURNAL lauds the attacks of the AFL executive council on the CIO's wage fights.

THE HERALD TRIBUNE has an article by NAACP head Walter White stating that the Negro voters are not shifting to the Republican Party as is rumored in some quarters.

Worth Repeating

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist Party, discussing the tasks of the Party in the election campaign: "One of the most indispensable contributions we can make is to strengthen the independent organizations and activity of labor and its allies, and to bend heaven and earth to crystallize the widest democratic coalition. We should remember at every moment that the decisive issue is not whether the independent and democratic coalition forces will put forward many or few independent candidates and tickets of their own.

"The decisive thing is to organize that kind of progressive coalition, including the Communists, which, irrespective of the number of candidates it nominates or elects, will crusade for a people's program, will resist and curb the offensive of imperialist reaction, and will advance the urgent and immediate, as well as the fundamental, long-term interests of the working people." Speech to the Party's National Committee meeting, July 16.

Reaction Can Be Beaten

THE Republican Party is making a deliberate effort to demoralize the electorate by picturing the results of the coming election as a foregone conclusion.

Part of the build-up is the straw-polling now going on.

The object obviously is to induce hopelessness and greater apathy among progressives.

We say greater apathy because the GOP is also banking on a certain amount of apathy induced by Truman's surrender to the wreckers of price control. The alternatives to reactionary candidates of the GOP are, in most cases, Democrats.

But the emergence of "American Action Inc.," backed by high moguls of finance capital, should warn that such apathy may be fatal to democracy.

"American Action Inc." is manned by the Coughlinites, Hamfishes and other known demagogues of native fascism. Behind it, however, stand the same ruling circles of Big Business that put Hitler into power.

Like their German prototypes, these circles are trying to ensure electoral victory for those who can be depended upon to enact oppressive measures against the people, and particularly against labor. Their method, like Hitler's, is to try to create a hysteria against the "dangers of Communism."

The immediate aims of "American Action" are to defeat the outstanding progressives running for Congress and to ensure Republican domination of Congress.

Give the GOP complete power over Congress, and pro-fascist and reactionary forces will be enthroned. It is not yet too late to prevent this. But intensive action is needed.

The immediate aims of all democratic-minded citizens, and particularly labor, should be to block "American Action" by guaranteeing victory for outstanding progressive candidates and ensuring that the reactionary GOP does not dominate Congress. But only hard work will bring victory.

The Jittery Republicans

THE GOP is apparently getting frightened by the charge that it was responsible for the wrecking of price controls.

It is now trying to show that Democrats were equally responsible by showing the voting records.

There is no doubt that tory Democrats, and even some from the North, joined the GOP in its crippling activities. That does not remove from the GOP the dubious honor of being primarily responsible for them.

Well might it get jittery. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that since June 30, when OPA was wrecked, prices have gone up 21 percent. This does not include the period since meat was decontrolled.

Such is the fruit of GOP policy, and it is getting much worse. The GOP program calls for uncontrolled price rises.

And it also calls for Case Bills and other proposals to shackle labor so that it will be unable to fight back against this disastrous decline in its living standards.

New Voice of Jewish People

THE Jewish people who are not familiar with Yiddish have acquired a progressive voice to express their democratic sentiments. Jewish Life, the first issue of which has just been published by the Morning Freiheit Association, promises to shed new light on the burning problems facing the Jewish people. There is every indication that this new monthly will meet with the response that its advanced program merits. The Daily Worker is happy to greet its new colleague and wish it well.

Letters from Our Readers

Negro Kids Attacked By Philly Police

Philadelphia.

Editor, Daily Worker:

Maybe this is just a common example of police brutality against Negroes, but it struck us hard. We saw it with our own eves.

My husband and I were walking in the center of town. On 15 St. two blocks from City Hall, we saw six young Negro boys, between 9 and 11 years old. They were making music on home-made instruments. It sounded good. They were beating hand - wrought drums, a washboard, a stringed instrument.

One boy was singing Caledonia while the others beat out a swing rhythm. A few others gathered around to enjoy the music and give the boys some coins.

Suddenly, a red police car drove up. Two heavy cops stormed over to the music-making youngsters, shouting: "We've told you to keep away from this corner. Then, without warning, one of the big policeman shoved a boy aside and stamped on his home-made drum.

We were all horrified at the ruthless smashing of a small child's handicraft, a child who probably couldn't afford to buy a drum.

Then, all the youngsters were hurled into the police car. One man near us said: "Now they're going to make hardened criminals out of them."

Fine Analysis

New York Editor, Daily Worker:

Congratulations on Samuel Sillen's fine analysis and criticism of the O'Neill show. It's something we can be proud to show anyone in our field.

It's the kind of treatment worthy of O'Neill who is, as Mr. Sillen puts it, a "playwright of stature."

THE BASIS FOR THE ELECTION ALLIANCE

By Max Gordon

(Conclusion of Series)

THE ELECTION CAMPAIGN shapes up as an alliance between the emerging independent labor-progressive coalition and local Democratic organizations in most areas outside of the South, against the Republican apparatus, political agency for reactionary monopoly capital.

The labor-progressive coalition consists of groups and individuals are united on a minimum program directed against aggressive imperialism and Big Business reaction.

The Democratic organizations are in most cases opportunist machines which tend to be conservative but which will support progressive measures to the extent the electorate impels them.

THE ELECTORAL ALLIANCE between these two elements this year is by no means the same as the coalition that backed President Roosevelt. Within that coalition there was no independent force, based on labor, with its own independent program and structure such as is emerging today.

This was due in large part to the fact that FDR headed the coalition and was also titular head of the Democratic Party.

True, the CIO did develop Labor's Non-Partisan League and later CIO-PAC. These, however, functioned mainly as instrumentalities for getting out the vote for the candidates backed by labor and had not yet succeeded in developing an independent program.

It is true that many of the leading figures within the labor-progressive coalition now consider the alliance with the Democratic Party as a relatively permanent feature of its electoral life. But their view is based on the assumption that they can "liberalize" the Democratic Party, get it to accept and fight for the progressive coalition program.

While in some cases, local Democratic organizations, under progressive leadership, have in fact become part of the coalition, the facts of life are making it increasingly clear that a fundamental political realignment is essential in the nation. Basic sections of the Democratic Party, both in the South and elsewhere, are closely allied with Republican reaction against progress.

WHETHER RECOGNIZED as such or not, the Communists are inevitably part of the progressive coalition because they are the most forward-looking progressive group in America.

In the current elections the party campaigns independently in such a way as to strengthen the coalition, contribute its maximum aid to the defeat of the candidates of extreme reaction and advance the fight for peace, progress and democracy.

Where it has its own candidates in the field, it aims at the same time to build up the maximum vote for them. This is an essential aspect of the elections since a strong Communist vote will be a blow to those who depend on red-baiting both outside and within the labor movement to split the labor and progressive movements. It will increase the influence of the Communists in aiding the coalition to strengthen itself.

In most areas, outside of New York where there is also an independent labor party, the Communist vote will be the sole way in which large sections of the population can record their dissatifaction with reactionary candidates on both tickets or with the national leadership of the two parties.

In New York the Communist Party tactics permits the recording of the largest possible vote for the independent party backed by the labor-progressive coalition, the American Labor Party, and for the two state-wide Communist candidates.

The election campaign is a major battle in the continuing struggle against Wall Street reaction. It will by no means end that struggle regardless of the outcome.

Therefore, besides defeat of the candidates of reaction and the election of progressives, a major objective is to see that the organizations who are fighting against the program of the monopolists come out stronger and more firmly united.

The recent emergence of the pro-fascist American Action, Inc., backed by leading finance capitalists and devoted to a victory for Republican reaction, shows how right the last national committee meeting of the Communist Party was in focussing attention on the need to build the most powerful labor-progressive coalition possible and the alliance against this reaction.

With Willie Gallacher

(Continued from Page 2) OP has conducted a big campaign and issued a statement in an effort to get the facts before the people, he revealed.

The British workers want the atomb bomb banned for all time, Gallacher said, and believe all atomic information should be available to all nations. He recalled that Churchill had once declared that it was fortunate that the U.S. held monopoly of the bomb, because before other nations could learn its secret, "policy in Europe will have been determined."

Turning to the domestic situation in England, Gallacher observed: "There is a lot of talking about the Labor government pursuing a reactionary foreign policy and at the same time a progressive domestic policy. The two policies must harmonize or there is bound to be a crash. We are desirous of seeing the Labor government pursue a progressive policy in both foreign and domestic affairs.

"The Labor government is very hesitant and timid even in pursuing a progressive domestic policy. For instance, the nationalization of the coal mines was done in such a way that the mine owners were granted full compensation for mines they bankrupted. The most that should have been done was to give them a life annuity."

followed with great interest, Gallacher declared: "There is a terrific need for houses. But instead of taking over the land and alloting some for agriculture and the rest for housing, the Labor government passed a bill to enable local authorities to acquire land. Some do and some do not. Some find that they are being held up by prices on land. But they don't face up to the big question of taking over the land completely.

"The squatters movement made this timidity of the Labor government stand out clearer than anything else. When the squatters took possession of army huts in all parts of the country the authorities cut off light and water. But the movement was so widespread that the government had to sanction it and the Minister of Health instructed local authorities to make conditions suitable for habitation. He also said that if he had offered army huts for residences he would have been condemned because they were substandard. Nevertheless, the government condoned the action of the squatters in taking over these sub-standard army huts.

"However," he continued, "when the squatters in London took over the modern super-standard houses, then we had an entirely different situation. All the power of the government was used against them. As long as homeless people were prepared to accept slum conditions, there was no objection.

"But as soon as they went into better class houses, then the leaders of the Labor government began to shout against the Communist Party and action was taken against the squatters. They besieged these people. The water was cut off. Light and heat were cut off. The entire area was sur-

"The government representative declared the Army huts were public property, but the modern buildings in London were private property. During the war these same buildings were requisitioned by the government for use by the armed forces. The answer is that the government should re-requisition these private buildings, just as during the war.

"The government spokesmen shouted that the squatters' movement is Communist Party politics. But the real politics consists in the fact that the squatters in this case are putting the rights of the people before the rights of private property. The Labor government takes the position of defending private property against the rights and needs of the common people."

To the question, "What is the Labor government doing to solve its domestic problems, such as food shortages?" Gallacher re-

"The only way that the food shortage can be solved is by greatly increased production in all industrial resources. The fact of the matter is that the Labor government has made no campaign among the workers to spur them to greater production.

"On the contrary. The reactionary character of its foreign policy and the timidity in the handling of domestic policy. has had an adverse effect on the possibilities of increased production.

"In many cases the workers feel a sense of frustration; things are not going like they expected them to go. The trend away from Big Three unity by Byrnes and Bevin at the Paris conference, the British soldiers still in Greece, the wave of terror against the Jews in Palestine, the building of bases in Trans-Jordán, etc., is all creating a feeling of uncertainty among the masses of workers, and we are not getting the production.

"The workers listen to the Communists, accept their advice and elect them to the highest union posts. If we could get the Labor Party leaders to come to an understanding with the Communist Party, we could have a real drive for production just as during the war when we achieved the highest production in history behind the slogan of 'Arms for Joe.' The solution to the problem of increased production is unity between the Labor Party and the t Party.

Gallacher declared the control of prices has been quite effective in Britain. "There have been slight increases here and there, but there has not been the same drive there as in the United States for the removal of price controls."

"What is the relation of the Communist Party to the British trade unions?" Gallacher was asked.

"There are still a few unions in Britain whose leaders denounce the Communist Party as some of your American labor leaders do. But on the whole, in most unions well-known and respected Communist Party leaders have been elected to the highest posts and committees. In Bevin's own union, the Transport and General Workers Union, there are many Communists on the General Executive Board, and one of its best executives is also an outstanding Communist Party member. Arthur Horner, another Communist leader, was sweepingly elected recently general secretary of the Miners' Union. Most of the national organizers of the Amalgamated Engineering Union are Communist Party members. And there are very good personal relations between all the high leaders of the trade union movement and the leaders of our party."

When asked about the influence of the Communist Party in Britain and whether it was growing in size, Gallacher answered quite proudly:

"The influence of the party is much wider than the actual size of its membership. The Communist Party plays a big part in the shop - steward movement, which directs all activities in the factories. The same applies in the mining areas.

"Our membership is 60,000, which is entirely an active membership. We have several hundred thousand subscribers and supporters of the Daily Worker. The Labor Party has three to four hundred thousand members, besides the affiliated trade unions, but this is not an active membership. Our membership and subscribers are as much as the working membership of the Labor Party. We publish 15 times more Hterature than the Labor Party. In the past year we published $600,000 worth of books and popular pamphlets. And when I left England, the party was preparing a new campaign to further increase its membership."

Anti-Semites Would Deny Liberty to All

THE PHILADELPHIA TRIB. UNE said about the Nazi criminals executed at Nuernberg: "These men were all anti-Semitic. They were all likewise anti-human. The two always go together. Never was the truth more clearly seen that anti-Semitism is a particularly vicious form of human depravity and that whoever persecutes Jews is on the road which leads to the persecution of everybody and the end of freedom for everybody."

THE CHICAGO BEE declared, Republicrat coalition must be held culpable for the present inflation which is now dangerously widening. . . . Now as the November elections are approaching the Republicans are attempting to make political capital out of the economic muddle in which the nation is presently gripped." The Bee is right in nailing the GOP and its southern Democratic stooges as being responsible for the present plight of the country. Behind it all is the greed of the big corporations, bankers and landlords, who are ruining the East, West and North, and who have ruined the South already.

THE PITTSBURGH COURIER took Vincent Sheehan to task for his article on the Columbia riot trial. Regarding racial conditions in the South, Sheehan had written that it was "primarily a southern problem and the intrusion of any element from other parts of our society is likely to be resented." The editorial said: "This is one nation. The South's handling of the race problem shames the entire nation before the entire world. . . . No one section can be permitted to tarnish the escutcheon of the nation as a whole without challenging the sense of responsibility of the citizens of other sections. . . . How can Mr. Sheehan mean that we must leave this problem to the South when it thus shows its devotion to Nazi theories of race rather than the principles of the Declaration of Independence?"

THE CHICAGO DEFENDER directs the Assembly of the United Nations to "the appeal of the Negro people of the United States, voiced by the National Negro Congress and supported by numerous other organizations, for United Nations intervention in behalf of the civil and political rights of Negro Americans. . . We urge immediate action to protect their rights. We believe this. to be necessary at this time because of the continued abuses of these rights, and the refusal of the federal administration and the state governments to exercise their authority in protecting the lives and property of Negro Americans"

AMSTERDAM NEWS columnist Earl Brown said: "The reactionaries of the Republican Party have taken the bull by the horns and are running away with the situation out here in the Midwest. Led by such unholy and diabolical characters as Col. Rutherford B. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, and Gen. Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., this clique of political manipulators are doing their best to scouch progress of any kind of control of the country." Well said.

A Shameful Episode At Oklahoma City U. By Bill Mardo

GRID JIMCROW isn't stone cold dead yet. Latest bit of Hitler mockery comes from the moguls of Oklahoma City University who prevented two Negro stars of the visiting Fresno State College team from playing there last Saturday. "It is not the custom to play Negroes and whites together in Oklahema," the Oklahoma officials insisted. And so Fresno's ace halfback, Jack Kelley, and tackle Millard Mitchell stayed off the field when their teammates met the Oklahoma City eleven. Kelley, incidentally, has been the Fresno Bulldogs' leading ground-gainer in two seasons past-and Mitchell had become the Californians' varsity tackle in '45.

The story is that only a forfeiture of its $5,000 posted guarantee compelled the Fresno officials to make the trip without its two Negro stars. I can't help thinking of how much it would've meant if the Fresno officials had stuck by the two players despite the loss of money involved and what a significant lesson it would've been in the fight against Jimcrow-a fight that must never be measured in terms of

But the main brunt of criticism muse be leveled against Oklahoma. Consider this bit of stomach-turning doubletalk which the school uttered in defending its Jimcrow tactics. We ourselves have no rulings against Negro competition, said the school, but Oklahoma "could assume no responsibility if harm might come to the two boys if they played."

What a weasel-worded, lynch type of talk that is! Sounds so familiar, doesn't it, of the southern town sheriffs who are quick to explain how they'd lived up to every letter of the law, given a Negro "prisoner" full rights . . . only "some of the boys got to him after we let him free. . . ."

Yes, when will the Oklahoma City University learn that Jimcrow in sports is a losing proposition, that it runs counter to every precept of decency and democracy, that the Jimerow lie looks even more ridiculous coming from them today, when Negroes number among the biggest names in the football world . . . Buddy Young . . . Len Ford . . . Levi Jackson . . . Gene Derricotte . . . Bert Piggott . . . Emmet Tunnel . . . Mel Groomes . . . Bob Mann . . . Harvey Grimsley . . . Bob Reynolds . . . Paul Patterson . . . and Marion Motley, Bill Willis, Kenny Washington and Woody Strode in the pro loop.

Surely when the Oklahoma athletic moguls spoke of "harm" coming to Fresno's Negro stars, if they played, what could they have meant? That they themselves wouldn't be responsible for any such occurrences? Whom are they kidding? I doubt that any Oklahoma player would be guilty of consciously roughing it up against his Negro competitors unless the school officials whipped up the kind of Jimcrow hysteria that creates such incidents.

Sports is a great unifier. Negro and white athletes have had nothing but the most wholesome type of competitive experiences in football, boxing, track, basketball, and now in organized baseball. When athletes are brought together in a healthy atmosphere of team comeraderie, all artificial differences quickly dissipate. The case of Jackie Robinson is only one of many typical experiences. The great Negro second-baseman had many southerners as his teammates on the ballfield, and, from the completely healthful manner in which Montreal mentor Clay Hopper (himself a southerner) handled the club, allowing for the normal type of relationship that is called for when men have to play, live and travel together . . . well, what happened? Nothing but very fine bonds of friendship between Jackie and his buddies, whether they halled from Brooklyn or South Carolina. A friendship born out of respect for each other's abilities—and no doubt the color question, which is a perplexing problem for most southerners who have been weaned on the white supremacy myth, must've come in for serious reconsideration and finally an utter rejection of the Bilbo line of propaganda by the southern members of the Montreal Royals.

And that's why the finger of guilt points so heavily on the athletic moguls of Oklahoma City University. Not only for its unwritten Jimerow tactics . . . but for the kind of talk that emanated from official school spokesmen.

It would be a very good idea if the progressive people of Oklahoma City and the university's student body spoke out in no uncertain terms . . . demanding not only a change in the school's policy toward playing against mixed teams, but also pressing them to apologize for the ugly talk about not being responsible if any "harm" might come to the Negroes had they been permitted-to compete.

For Bilbo himself couldn't have put it any better than did the bigwigs of Oklahoma City University.

LABOR SPORTS FEDERATION has started the ball rolling on its intra - union All - Star basketball tourney. Fifteen unions have already enrolled in the tourney, with the opening-gun games tentatively scheduled for Nov. 25. The union competition will be held at the various high school gyms throughout the city obtained by the federation. For those quintets that have no coaches, experienced hoop mentors will be supplied by the federation at a nominal cost.

The Labor Sports Federation established its basketball committee at a meeting two nights ago, and all unions in the hoop tourney are represented on that tour between the Jackie Robinson mixed All-Stars versus Honus Wagner's major leaguers is coming along:

The Wagners won the barnstorming opener, 10-4, at Cincinnati, but Robinson's mixed crew came back with a 6-4 triumph in the second game-aided no little by Jackie's three hits which produced two tallies.

Several days later, at Chicago, the Robinson All-Stars won another, 10-5. Johnny Wright, Negro star of the Three Rivers club of the Canadian-American League, twirled the first five innings and was credited with the victory. Robinson got two out of four in that shindig, one of them a scorching triple down the right field line. He handled eight chances in the field and started three breath-taking double plays.

Jackie played six innings at his old shortstop position (the slot he used to hold down with the Kansas City Monarchs), and then moved over to second base—the position he worked at so brilliantly this past season for the champion Montreal Royals.

Roy Campanella, the fine Negro catcher of the Nashua Dodgers, the Brooklyn farm team in the the Robinson All-Stars and also had himself a nice day at bat with two hits, one of them a linedrive double.

The Robinson All-Stars includes Jackie's two white teammates from Montreal - shortstop Al Campanis and outfielder Marvin Rackley. On the same team are these stars from the Negro leagues: Larry Doby, Lennie Pearson and the highly touted Monte Irvin - all from the New-

The Wagner major leaguers has on its roster Frankie Gustine and Al Gionfriddo, of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Hank Camelli, of the Braves; Joe Beggs, Eddie Lukon, Bob Malloy and Eddie Miller, of the Cincinnati Reds; Stan Ferens, of the Browns; Pete Suder, of the Athletics, and Hank Sauer, of

It's kickoff time again today, and, as the sideshow shill says . . . "tell you what we're gonna do." Now that brother Rodney has fouled up the football air considerably with his most recent adventure into the world of prognostication (yesterday it was football!)

Who ruptured our duck? what's the deal for

This is the front cover of "Who Ruptured Our Duck," an attractive two-color 16-page nickel pamphlet on vet problems put out by the Veterans Commission of the Communist Party, 35 E. 12 St., N.Y.C. Written in a popular style and sharply illustrated, the pamphlet effectively answers the question: What's the deal for veterans? Starting with the jobs and housing snafu, "Who Ruptured Our Duck" goes on to discuss the CP Vet Commission's immediate and long-range programs designed to solve these and other burning problems. It's a must for all vets interested in getting to the root of their ills and finding out what they can do to remedy them.

DETROIT.—Back in action again the well known Contemporary Theatre prepares once again to bring modern, socially concious plays to the communities of Michigan. For many years before World War II, Contemporary theatre was the Michigan expression of a people's theatre portraying their ideas and problems.

Their first production will be the smash hit Stevedore which will open sometime late in November. The production under the direction of Merrill McClatchey is now engaged in rehearsals.

The cast will include McKinley Wilson, Florence Pate, Lloyd Richards, Oliver LeGrone, George Shapiro, Henry Kaminsky, Madeline Watson and Jeanne DeShong.

Plans of the Contemporary Theatre are for establishment of a "Mobile Unit" that will bring skits, one act plays and other entertainment to unions, civic groups and others. Also to develop talent a One-Act Play Contest will be announced in the near future.

A theatre makeup class has been set up under the direction of Janka McClatchey which is meeting twice weekly at Civic Centre, Erskine and New Series Of Brush, Detroit, which is the Contemporary Theatre present head- Midnight Shows
